

P15

MALBEC 2014

"We have achieved our dream: we have put inside every bottle the silence, the color and the mystery of this far away valley".

Argentine Patagonia

P15 OWES ITS NAME TO ONE OF THE MANY OLD dusty and stony roads running across the arid landscapes of Argentine Patagonia, and which cross our vineyard in San Patricio del Chañar. Fresh, fruity and expressive, each variety reveals its unique Patagonian varietal personality.

VINEYARDS

Argentine Patagonia (39° South Latitude - 300 m.a.s.l.), Neuquén, San Patricio del Chañar, Route 7, Picada 15. Vineyard area: 162 hectares. Year of plantation: 2001. Rainfall: 197 mm/year. Temperature range: 20°C. Drip-irrigated vines on a high espalier, trained on a bilateral cordon with vertically positioned buds.

COMMENTS

Fresh, fruity and expressive, each variety express its unique Patagonian personality.

TASTING NOTES

Intense purplish color. Aromas of red fruit, particularly morello cherries and plums with a subtle hint of violets. Medium-structured wine, soft tannins with notes of vanilla contributed by the wood. Harmonious and elegant wine.
